

Dave Henry and Elise Mauro of 7th Floor in Sound Track to Life

7th Floor gives excellent performance in "Sound Track to Life"

New Buffalo residents Elise Mauro and Dave Henry along with the 7th Floor Band, Mark Neary, Marcy Gilliam and Julie Kopp performed at the Dunes Summer Theatre on Thursday, July 22, in a rock opera entitled "Sound Track to Life."

The show depicted how Henry and Kopp met on the 7th floor of the LaPorte Hospital after suicide attempts and their struggles with life after commitment.

7th Floor performs all the original music to the score of the show. The music was incredible, poignant, moving and very entertaining.

Mouro on violin and vocals, Henry on sax and vocals, Julie Kopp on guitar and vocals Gilliam on vocals and Neary on base is a combination of talent that is not to be missed.

Their songs including "Train Song," "Let It Go," and "Rocker" have lyrics that are truly inspired.

The tragic circumstance that lead Henry and Kopp to their commitment to the psychiatric floor also inspired them to create music to express their pain, suffering and ultimately realize happiness through their music.

The film version of the "Sound Track to Life" is underway. The dream of writing the opera has come to reality, but the incredible dream of it becoming a movie is beyond their wildest expectation.
